

All One

Dallas' 14 Essential Brunch Spots

by Amy McCarthy and Rhiannon Saegert | Aug 15, 2017, 9:58am CDT

Maple Leaf Diner/Facebook

In Dallas, brunch is decidedly the most important meal of the weekend. Which is why it's important to know exactly where to find the fluffiest pancakes, the crispiest bacon, and the strongest mimosas. But where does one find the best brunch in Dallas?

This city is practically littered with excellent brunch options, but these 15 spots are definitely worthy of any brunch bucket list. Carpe chilaquiles, Dallas.

9 Mercat Bistro

Brush out that bedhead, put on whatever's the least wrinkled and head to Mercat Bistro for a fancy brunch that won't cost a fortune. Start this Euro-inspired brunch with housemade ricotta topped with local honeycomb or a roasted tomato-brie tart, and finish with a plate of perfectly light strawberry-mascarpone crepes. Mimosas of course, are a must. Brunch is served from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Mercat Bistro/Facebook

2501 N Harwood St
Dallas, TX 75201

(214) 953-0917

VISIT WEBSITE

DIRECTIONS

OPENTABLE