

EATER

DALLAS

All One

Where To Find Dallas' Best Boozy Frozen Drinks

Frosé, Moontang & Pink Panties await

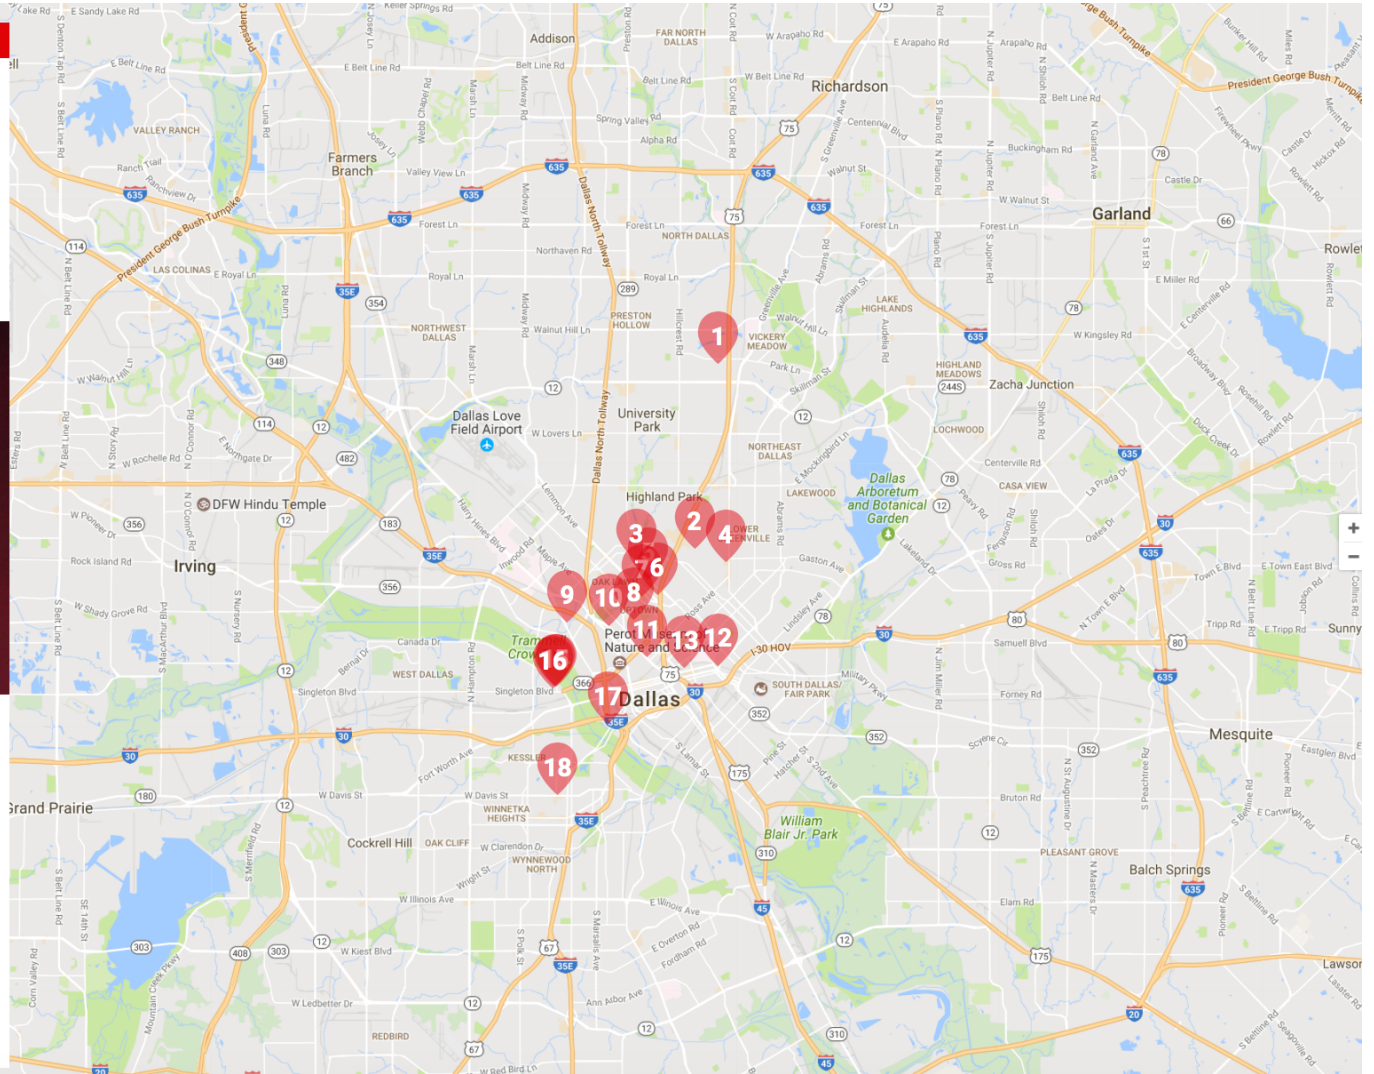

by Rachel Pinn | Jun 5, 2017, 9:20am CDT

Rachel Pinn

It's been a weird year for weather, but the inevitable is coming — it's about to be hotter than hell in Dallas. Once the mercury really starts to rise, one of the most ideal ways to chill out is a frozen drink, especially if it's been spiked with a few shots of booze.

But where does one find Dallas' best frozen cocktails? Far less ubiquitous than just your average margarita, and way less "basic" than the typical Mambo Taxi, these festive, frozen concoctions are like an air conditioner for your mouth.

10 The Grove at Harwood

What's a sno-mosa? Pretty much exactly what it sounds like. Try this frozen version of the brunchiest beverage (along with several other varieties of boozy New Orleans-style sno balls) over in the heart of the Harwood District.

Courtesy The Grove

---

Dallas
TX

VISIT WEBSITE

DIRECTIONS

---

SHARE THIS PLACE 🐦 f